Singleton Birch Head Office

Singleton Birch is the UK's leading independent manufacturer of lime products, based in North Lincolnshire. The company takes an active role in education, explaining the origins and importance of lime and lime products.

Leading AV integrator and recommended i-ceilings installer - Saville AV - designed and equipped a new conference and training room facility for their head office site, providing state-of-the-art, interactive presentation facilities that are versatile and easy to use.

The room is partitioned for use as one large conference area or two independent meeting rooms.

With a voice reinforcement system installed using two radio microphones and four i-ceilings Sound Panel speakers to eliminate the feedback that would have occurred with standard speakers as presenters moved around the room.
